GOVERNOR OF INDIANA IS IN COUNTY JAIL

Convicted of Using Mails in Scheme to Defraud

EXPECTED TO RESIGN SOON

May be Sentenced to Federal Prison Term Tomorrow

(BULLETIN) INDIANAPOLIS — (Associated Press) — Warren T. McCray, convicted yesterday in federal court of using the mails to defraud today resigned as governor of Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS — (Associated Press) — That Governor Warren T. McCray, found guilty of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud in federal court yesterday would resign during the day was the general belief here today, although public state leaders, the governor's attorneys and the governor himself steadfastly declined to make statements of any kind.

The governor spent last night in the Marion-co jail and was to remain in confinement there until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning when he is to appear before Federal Judge A. B. Anderson to be sentenced.

Republican leaders gathered here today to discuss the situation. A series of conferences were held by Republican leaders when McCray's financial difficulties first became public and the opinion was expressed that impeachment proceedings would be instituted if he was found guilty of the charges.

The attitude of the leaders at the present time, however, is that no immediate action will be taken, the end being apparently prevailing that McCray will resign.

It appeared unlikely early today that Governor McCray would ask for an appeal. M. A. Ryan, one of the governor's attorneys, gave the only definite hint that McCray would not appeal when he said yesterday that while he was not sure he "guessed" that no appeal would be taken.

PENALTY PROVIDED — The jury was out 10 minutes. The penalty provided by statute may be a fine of not to exceed $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years or both, within the discretion of the court.

Approximately 150 witnesses were called by the government. They identified a mass of correspondence with the governor regarding notes, "cattle paper" and financial statements sent to the banks through the mails. Governor McCray, testifying in his own behalf, admitted signing the names of others to notes, but contended his signature as indorser established his responsibility and he believed himself able financially to meet all of his obligations. He disclaimed any intention of attempting to defraud bankers to whom he sold the notes.

An indictment against McCray charging violation of the national banking laws and conspiracy to violate the national banking laws, is still pending in federal court.

Besides the federal indictment, McCray was named in fifteen true bills returned by the Marion-co grand jury. The governor's trial on the first of these resulted recently in a disagreement of the jury.

SWISS CAREER — Warren T. McCray, the first man ever convicted while holding the office of governor of Indiana, was inaugurated January 1, 1921, having been neglected on Republican ticket. Previous to making the race for governor he had participated only slightly in politics. Much of his time had been devoted to banking, cattle raising and grain dealing.

His business career was begun as bookkeeper in a country bank. Then followed a slow climb to fortune. While he was rated a wealthy man years before he began casting his eyes toward the governorship.

McCray made his home in Kentland, a short distance from where he was born on February 4, 1865.

He went to work at the age of 15 years, after having been graduated from public school in Kentland. He immediately took up bookkeeping in a Kentland bank which at one time was reorganized by his father. McCray later became president of the institution.

Six years McCray worked with figures out on the day of his majority he resigned and went into the grocery business. As rapidly as the money was forthcoming from one grain elevator, he invested it in another and soon had a chain over the northwestern part of the state.

The fact that his schooling was limited did not hinder McCray, for he studied hard in later years. While governor he proved a strong supporter of education in the state, and backed with all his power bills to improve school conditions in Indiana.

8 Lives Saved
By Collie Dog

LAMBERTON, N. Y. — (Associated Press) — The lives of eight persons were saved by a collie dog when the farm house of Leslie S. Morrison burned to the ground early today. The dog sacrificed its own life.

Morrison was awakened by the dog's tugging at the bed clothes to find the house in flames. With the help of his wife and his cousin, James Morrison, he carried five children, ranging in age from three to nine years, to safety. Two of them, Robert and Richard, had been overcome by smoke.

When the embers cooled the body of the dog was found buried in the debris.

36 BODIES FOUND IN WRECKED PIT

West Virginia Mine Blast Victims Burned Beyond Recognition

75 OTHERS BELIEVED DEAD

Rescuers Battering Thru Ruins to Reach Entombed Men

WHEELING, W. Va. — (Associated Press) — The burned and crushed bodies of 36 victims of yesterday's explosion and fire in the Benwood mill mine of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, had been found by rescue workers up to 8 o'clock this morning, and search for 81 other miners who were entombed, continued under direction of experts of the United States Bureau of Mines. While the rescuers dispaired of reaching any of the men alive, they lost no time in exploring the underground recesses.

As the bodies were located they were placed to one side in the mine tunnels, and the rescuers, weary and worn by a night of hard work, continued their battle against fallen rock and earth and poison gas. None of the bodies will be brought to the surface until every tunnel and chamber has been explored.

Of the thirty bodies found during the night only three were identified, most of them being burned beyond recognition.

WORK OF RESCUERS — Frank Fene, expert in charge of the United States Bureau of Mines, said he is directing the rescue work, said the crews, including many volunteers from nearby mining villages were penetrating the mine from the Benwood entry and the air shaft at Brown's Run, located two and a half miles from the mouth of the mine. Shortly after dawn these men had fought their way thru the main entry and were about 2,500 feet apart. In this strip of unexplored tunnel, Chief Fene believed the bodies of the 81 missing would be found, probably in the cars in which they were being taken to their posts in the mine.

These cars were only a short distance in the workings when the terrific blast shattered the underground passageways.

J. T. McCombs, Moundville, the coroner, returned to the scene to carry out and continued his investigation.

LIST GIVEN OUT — J. W. Carpenter of the Benwood plant of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, this morning announced that 111 men were in the corporation mine at the time of the explosion and he issued a list which he said had been carefully checked and was official.

Officials of the corporation were unable to fix a cause for the disaster and I. M. Scott, president of the corporation, said that there had been no evidence of gas until two months ago when a small explosion occurred.

In a steady, drizzling rain thru-out yesterday and far into the night mute groups of women and children, kin of the victims, waited at the two entrances which were guarded by cordons of mine police.

IRELAND'S TOURISTS — DUBLIN — A Canadian, vice-president of the Irish Tourist Association who has been in the United States organizing means of improving the comfort of travelers to and from Ireland, has cabled that the travel prospects for America to Ireland are this year good. ## MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT AT FINDLAY

Cincinnati Motorist Near Death in Another Crash

COMPANIONS ARE INJURED

Death of Victim Expected Hourly at St. Rita's Hospital

One Lima man was killed and two others injured Monday afternoon in an automobile wreck on the Dixie highway six miles southwest of Findlay.

The Dead. — John Raymond Lanahan, 32, 751 S. Main-st. Died in Findlay City hospital.

The Injured. — A. N. Kaney, 29, S. Jackson-st., body bruises and probable internal injuries. In Findlay hospital.

W. L. Kitchan, 33, slight cuts and minor body bruises. Lanahan died at 7:30 p. m. Monday at Findlay hospital. He was knocked unconscious when pinned under the automobile which he was driving.

PASS FUNERAL — The three men in the automobile sped by a funeral procession en route to Findlay. Six miles from the city the automobile plunged from the road and overturned. Lanahan, who was driving, was pinned under the wreckage. It was stated, and his two companions were cut by flying glass.

Recovery of Kaney is doubtful, according to hospital authorities who state that he is suffering from probable internal injuries.

Lanahan made his home in Lima with his sister, Mrs. P. J. Donnellman, 751, S. Main-st. He was born on Nov. 20, 1892. He was employed at the Buckeye Pipe Line Co. and was a member of Lima Lodge No. 379, F. O. E.

Besides his sister he is survived by two brothers, Bernard and Edward, both of Lima.

Funeral services will be held at 8:30 a. m. at St. John's Catholic church with Rev. Father Plumanns in charge. Burial in Gethsemane.

ANOTHER INJURED — P. P. Timmons, Cincinnati, hovers near death at St. Rita's hospital with a fractured skull—the victim of an automobile accident at 3 a. m. Tuesday at Beavertown.

The man has been unconscious since the crash and hospital authorities state it is only a question of a few hours until his death.

His two companions, George Oaks, Cincinnati, and John Devaney, of Lima escaped injury when the alleged speeding automobile crashed into a concrete post and a sign board at a left angle turn in Beavertown.

The trio in a new Nash roadster were en route from Cincinnati to Michigan. They passed thru Beavertown at a high rate of speed, it is stated, and at the left turn marks on the road indicate that the brakes were applied in making the turn.

SWERVES FROM ROAD — The car plunged from the right of the road, crashed into the telephone pole, shattered the pole and a billboard and demolished the automobile. Timmons was believed thrown from the machine and landed on his head, fracturing his skull.

An ambulance from Lima sped to St. Rita's hospital with the injured man and brought him from the scene of the accident in half an hour.

That the automobile which had been driven only 257 miles, must have been traveling at a high rate of speed is indicated in the wreckage remaining after the crash. The front of the car was demolished and the sides telescoped. The telephone pole, about one foot in diameter, was broken and the huge sign board a mass of wreckage.

Timmons was taken care of after the crash by his two companions who returned to Lima with him. Oaks is said to have sustained a few slight cuts from flying glass, but Devaney escaped unscathed.

SEVEN PERSONS SHOT IN MYSTERIOUS FIGHT — CHICAGO — Samuel S. Bills, business agent for an ice cream wagon drivers' union, was shot to death, another man was probably fatally wounded and seven others shot less seriously in a mysterious fight in an electrical workers' union hall last night.

A few hours previously, Bills had ordered a strike of his union to take effect Thursday. George Dierdorf, 32, shot thru the mouth, told the police the shooting began while six electrical workers were appearing before the board of their union to explain in fractions of regulations. Authorities could not determine what connection Bills had with the meeting nor could they account for his slaying.

DANIELS QUIZZED IN OIL PROBE

Former Secretary of Navy Called Before Grand Jury

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration, was called as the first witness today before the District of Columbia grand jury considering criminal charges growing out of the senate oil inquiry.

It was at Daniels' request that congress enacted the law of June 4, 1920, which the government contends placed the oil reserves within the sole jurisdiction of the navy secretary and which it is argued made invalid the executive order under which that control passed to the interior department in May 1921.

The 1920 act has been a subject of much controversy since the oil scandal developed, friends of former Secretary Fall contending that under its provisions the executive department could lease all of the naval oil lands. This view has been disputed, particularly by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who has contended that the clear intent of congress was simply the drilling of oil wells to preserve the fuel supply in the ground as far as possible.

E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior, and Dr. H. Foster Baine, director of the bureau of mines, who have appeared several times before the oil committee, reached the court house a few minutes after Daniels arrived and waited in an ante room. They were to have appeared before the senate oil committee today but were excused temporarily in order that they might go before the grand jury.

DECISION IS DELAYED BY COMMISSION

Bingham Recommends Sheet Asphalt and Granite Block

PETITION IS PRESENTED

Other Papers in Circulation Tuesday Among Freeholders

Property owners along Main-st were preparing Tuesday to come to a definite understanding regarding the type of material to be used in the paving of that thoroughfare.

This was the result of a division of opinion at the meeting of the city commission Monday night regarding not only the type of paving to be placed but also which contractor should get the job.

Property owners controlling, it was said, 60 per cent of the front footage were represented by George E. Mahaffey who asserted that asphalt block was the only satisfactory pavement for the street.

C. A. Bingham, city manager, recommended to the commission that the contract be let for sheet asphalt with granite block in the car tracks and gutters.

He also recommended that the contract be let to the Andrews Asphalt Co., of Hamilton, rather than to the George B. Walther Construction Co., of Lima, because the latter already has $170,000 worth of the work to do and the work would be speeded by having two firms working for the city.

WALTHER LOW — Tabulation of bids by the city engineer's office reveal that Walther is low in practically every sheet asphalt bid, Summers & Hardin and the Churchill-Enck Co., are low on asphalt block and on brick construction and that Summers & Hardin are low on wood block construction. The Andrews company is low on Texas asphalt with granite block, the type recommended by Bingham, Walther not being a bidder on this type.

Commissioners Ellis Jones and J. Rankin urged that the suggestion of Manager Bingham be adopted and the commission disregard the advice of the petitioners. Other commissioners, however, believed the petition should be checked and property owners' wishes be respected.

Rankin stated that several weeks ago he suggested a meeting with the property owners, but was told, he said, that it had been tried numbers of times, and couldn't be done. Although he expressed himself as being with the property owners in all matters involving street improvement, he voted against delaying action on the present job.

Rohn expressed himself as being in favor of delaying action for one week. He stated that when a petition is presented signed by the owners of more than 50 per cent of the property on the street, supposedly of 3,015 frontage feet out of a total of 5,030 feet, it's up to the commission to go over the matter and check up this frontage.

Jones stated that he talked to several people whose names are on the petition, and who said they would be glad if they could have them off.

ACTION DELAYED — On the suggestion of Jeff Morris, clothier, it was decided to delay action on the street for one week. This will give property owners an opportunity to make known their wants, it was said.

Agitation has been started among property owners, it was learned Tuesday, to have a canvas made and the actual wishes of the majority discovered. One or more petitions are being circulated, it is said, and one at least asks that the commission use its best judgment in the matter.

Commissioners were unanimous in their hope that the matter can be settled at once and that work can be started immediately. They pointed out that in order to have the work completed by winter every facility at the control of the contractors must be available.

Under Bingham's recommendation the street will cost $188,622.45 while for asphalt block the cost will probably be several thousand dollars higher. If one of Walther's bids is accepted the cost will be somewhat under the Andrews' bid.

Three-inch sheet asphalt will be used in the Walther's or Andrews' bids and two and a half inch asphalt block will be used if the property owners' suggestion is carried out.

Award of the asphalt contract on Leland-av between Cole and Kenilworth-sts was made to Walther at a price of $4,881. Churchill-Enck will pave Dewey-av from Bellefontaine-av to the end of the street with brick for $9,244.

Paving of Park-av from High to North-st was held up as the award was to be brick and residents desired asphalt. The matter will be investigated.

France, Belgium Insist on Continued Occupation

WAR DEBT BOARD MEETS

Replies on Reparations Plan Are Considered

PARIS — (United Press) — The reparations commission met today and considered the replies of the allied governments to the experts' report and discussed whom they should nominate on the organization committee.

It is believed the commission will be forced to mark time as far as acting on the governments' replies is concerned until the results of negotiations by Premier Thomsen of Belgium with Premier Poincare of France and MacDonald of Great Britain become known.

Despite several details of yesterday's Franco-Belgian conversations, it has leaked out that Poincare and Thomsen agreed in principle upon a compromise which will permit a continued united front by these countries as far as the Ruhr is concerned. Military occupation will be continued in some form, even though the experts plan is put in operation.

It is understood Thomsen urged that occupation eventually be modified towards "invisibility." He proposed occupation of vital centers only in case the Germans executed the plan with good will.

The Belgian premier is believed to have secured promises of concessions from Poincare which will enable him to bring the French and British viewpoints closer when he has a talk with Premier MacDonald, over the week-end.

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Only by prompt adoption of the reparations commission's latest plan can Europe be saved from chaos, in the opinion of its authors.

Arriving on the Leviathan yesterday, the triumvirate of experts, Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, Owen I. Young of New York and Henry H. Robinson of Los Angeles, united in declaring their work would be wasted unless France and Germany took swift action.

The plan could become operative as soon as the reichstag adopted the essential legislation. Young, acting as spokesman, stated. He laid emphasis on the urgency of speed.

TAX COMPROMISE IS SOUGHT

Senate Republicans Ready to Agree on 35 Per Cent Surtax

CALL FOR ACTION SOUNDED

Democrats Unwilling to Take up Rates Now

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — A call for action on the income tax rates of the Mellon bill, was again sounded by Republicans in the senate today. Chairman Reed Smoot, Republican chief of the finance committee, announced he would call up rate provisions of the bill every day until the Democrats get ready for the fight certain to ensue.

The Republicans now are ready to compromise at a 35 percent surtax rate, but they will stick to the finish by their normal income rates — three per cent on incomes of less than $4,000 and six percent over that amount. The Democrats want two percent on incomes of less than $4,000 and 4 per cent over.

DEMOCRATIC POSITION But the Democrats are unwilling to take up rates because they have been unable to perfect their graduated corporations tax scale. They want a levy of rates on earnings of corporations just like individuals.

It takes some time to work out the scheme and Democratic leaders claim they are not getting the right kind of cooperation from the treasury department experts. They may be ready today or tomorrow.

Smoot is not worried about the action of the Democrats in lopping off $34,000,000 in revenue by cutting out all telephone and telephone taxes. Smoot believes a majority of the entire body would reverse the action of the 20 or more present when the vote was taken yesterday afternoon. Adoption of the 14 per cent flat corporations tax otherwise was only tentative. Another vote will be had on this question, when the Democrats offer their substitute.

When the surtax rates come up Smoot will first require a vote on the 25 per cent maximum of the Mellon bill, then 30 per cent, then 32 1-2 per cent and then 35 per cent. He will not go above 35 per cent.

The Longworth compromise adopted by the house provides 13 1-2 per cent, compared with 50 per cent in the present law and 40 per cent, the proposal of senate Democrats.

CHARACTER ACTOR, WIFE ENTERTAIN YAMILLO CLUB AT INTERESTING SESSION

The Yamillo club, composed of Y. M. C. A. dormitory men, held its last regular dinner meeting Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. More than 50 members attended. The club will re-organize in September.

The club was entertained by Theodore Knox, character actor, and Mrs. Knox, coloratura singer. Knox recited one of James Whitcomb Riley's poems, "Tradin' Jones" and "Ma and Pap and Mother," by Strickland Gilman. Both of the poems were given with the aid of costumes. Knox also characterized an Italian fruit dealer.

Mrs. Knox sang several Gail Curci songs with the aid of a phonograph. The club made plans to attend in a body the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on May 7. # LANDIS CALLED IN JUSTICE PROBE

Ex-Judge to be Quizzed in Daugherty Investigation

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Further testimony bearing on the prohibition enforcement policies of the department of justice under Harry M. Daugherty was heard today by the senate Daugherty committee.

James A. Finch, the department pardon attorney, was questioned about the release of Phillip I. Grossman, sent to jail by Judge Landis at Chicago for one year for violating a court injunction in liquor sales. The witness agreed that Grossman never served any time. Attorney General Brundage of Illinois sent a letter to the department of justice, he said, recommending executive clemency but in 1923 President Harding refused to consider it until some part of the sentence had been served.

Finch also named C. W. Middlekauf, a special assistant to the attorney general, Fred Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee and Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Republican Cook county central committee as having urged clemency. In December, 1923, President Coolidge commuted the sentence and meantime Grossman had kept up appeals and other legal interference which proved adequate to prevent his imprisonment. Finch agreed the case was unusual.

The committee agreed to subpoena former Judge Landis, now baseball commissioner. He has also been mentioned in several branches of the committee's inquiry.

OUSTED SAFER ON WITNESS STAND

Former Canton Official Testifies in Own Behalf

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — "I wasn't going to lay down to the bootleggers and a half dozen crooked policemen, that's why I wouldn't quit under fire."

This was the answer of Safety Director E. E. Curt of Canton, on the stand today to questions why he refused to resign.

Curtis and his brother, Mayor C. C. Curtis, were suspended by Governor Donahay and are on trial before him, charged with failing to enforce the laws in Canton.

"I didn't care so much about the office," the safety director said, "but I have some reputation left in Canton and I am going to fight for that as long as I can."

"The more determined the efforts become to get me, the more determined I was to stay. That's why I am here."

Curtis said he took the office of safety director only because the mayor, his brother, had not been able to decide on anybody else. He did not intend to keep the office permanently, he said, but had expected to quit as soon as some one else could be selected.

The safety director cited records of arrests for bootlegging and gambling during his administration to refute charges against him, pointing out that last year $193,250 in fines was collected and that 716 arrests were made for liquor law violations.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every Druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer: "If a full pint bottle of Allenburh, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinges of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment."

Allenburh has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenburh, who for many years suffered the tortments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenburh decisively conquers this worst of diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. # CHURCH SPEAKERS TO COME HERE

Lima Included on State Tour of Prominent Workers

More than 30 speakers, among whom will be several nationally prominent church leaders, will tour 50 Ohio cities and towns from May 4 to 19, conducting community conferences on church co-operation. Lima will be visited by five speakers on Sunday and Monday, May 11 and 12.

The campaign has been organized by the Ohio Council of Churches, with the support of the Federal Council of Churches, to increase "interest" thru the state in the co-operation of churches of different denominations to perform their common tasks effectively.

Each town on the schedule will be visited by at least two or three speakers. Several of the larger cities will be visited by men representing employers and organized labor, who will address Sunday mass meetings on industrial questions.

The five men who will talk in Lima and neighboring towns in the county on May 11 and 12 are: Rev. Carl H. Barnett, New York; Gardner Lattimer, Columbus; E. D. Howard, Chicago; E. T. Brock, Detroit; and Rev. Leigh Wright. Two of the men, Howard and Brock, will be here Sunday afternoon only, and will probably speak at Trinity M. Sessions on Monday will be held at 4:30 and 6:30 p. m. with the other three men speaking.

Other cities in this vicinity that will be visited by some of the 30 speakers are Van Wert, Wapakoneta, Kenton and Findlay.

VISITS TOMB OF WILSON DAILY

Widow Places Fresh Flowers at His Resting Place
WALKS TO CATHEDRAL ALONE
Wife of Former President Leading Quietest of Lives

By BETTY WILLIAMS
WASHINGTON — (United Press)
—Up the steep hill that leads to the great cathedral standing sentinel-like above the city, where rests the remains of Woodrow Wilson, a lonely black-clad figure daily makes its way.
It is Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, making her unfailing pilgrimage to the silent tomb in the high vaulted chapel. With her own hands, the widow of the dead president makes certain that fresh flowers stand beside his resting place.
In the bleak winter days, Mrs. Wilson drove to the cathedral but now that the warm spring sunshine is bringing into leaf the maples that line Massachusetts-av., she walks the mile from the 8-st house where Woodrow Wilson died. Her walking costume is unusual. She is now wearing a plain black satin shirtwaist and skirt, and a heavy flowing widow's veil. She wears no ornament or jewelry.
Frequently Mrs. Wilson carries the fresh cut flowers herself the bright tinted roses contrasting sharply with her sombre dress. She places them tenderly by the tomb, kneels and murmurs a prayer and turning sadly away, walks home again.
Occasionally, she has a companion. He is Rear Admiral Cary Grayson, who was President Wilson's personal physician and devoted friend who watched over him from the hour he was stricken on his league of nations tour to the moment of his death five years later.
For the remainder of the day, Mrs. Wilson leads the quietest of lives. She goes out none at all and only a few intimate friends are welcomed to the 8-st house.
A few times she has been shopping. These infrequent trips to town are made in the luxurious motor that was the gift of the admirers of Woodrow Wilson shortly before his death. After making her purchases, Mrs. Wilson returns directly home.

Explosives

Lima has had two deaths in less than a week from oil stove explosions. Both were accidental and even tho the two deaths in so short a time make for a high rate for the time being, the fatalities cannot be taken as an argument against any particular fuel or type of stove. They are, however, an argument against carelessness.

We are entirely too careless when handling oils and gasoline, all highly explosive when brought in contact with fire. Gasoline is held by some experts to be our greatest hazard today due to the familiarity of everyone with it and the constant handling.

When one handles an article day after day as motorists do gasoline today—and most everyone is a motorist—he is lulled into a sense of security because of the familiarity with the article. This probably is true of those who handle dynamite or T. N. T. The average person would be "scared to death" if he were hauling several quarts of nitro glycerine, but those who work with it daily come to regard it as any other commodity and therein lies the danger, for that is where carelessness begins.

Oil and gasoline as fuel for stoves are used extensively and may be our leading fuel for cooking appliances in the comparatively near future. They are gaining in this respect in sections where gas is not obtainable and great industries are turning their attention to the manufacture of appliances using them. If we are to use these fuels year after year, we must learn to use them safely. Perfection in this direction cannot be hoped for however, as we still have accidental deaths from gas which are the direct results of familiarity and consequent carelessness.

While we are holding drives and staging campaigns for the elimination of other ills and dangers that beset us, it would not be amiss to consider the danger from some of the things to which we give the least thought.

Links

Only 55 American cities are known to have municipal golf courses tho this sport claims 10 million followers.

Membership and fees in most golf clubs are so high that it's still a rich man's game. The poor or even people of average means can not afford it. In Canada philanthropists are building golf courses and throwing them open to the public. Good tip for Americans.

Lima could use a municipal golf course to advantage.

Shakes

President Coolidge was wise in abolishing the custom of shaking hands with visitors to the White House.

Pumping several thousand arms at a session is a foolish waste of energy and time by an official whose minutes and strength are extremely valuable to himself and the public.

The whole system of shaking hands is foolish and dangerous, for it spreads disease germs. The League Against Hand Shaking is on the right track.

Everything has its place. Flies keep lots of people from just sitting around doing nothing.

Bartenders should make good umpires, being used to bottles.

Teeth are nice things. If you had no teeth what would you grit when your new spring shoes hurt?

Not a single case of a woodpecker lighting on a camper's head has been reported so far.

Many a wife wonders if hubby has gone fishing for speckled beauties or for freckled beauties.

FIGHT, COMPROMISE?

G. O. P. Forces Face Problem

(BY HARRY D. HUNT)

WASHINGTON — Whether to fight, and, by fighting, perhaps disrupt the party, or to compromise, and by compromising "straddle" on a patched-up platform that threatens to collapse from the insatiable filthiness of the materials used in its construction—that is a problem that is giving Republican "leaders", who hope to have a determining voice in party parleys at Cleveland, many sleepless nights.

If left to himself, President Coolidge would construct a platform which would at least be safe and symmetrical. While conservative, it would be logical and well balanced.

But powerful elements within the party, while acknowledging the nomination of Coolidge to succeed himself is inevitable and necessary, do not concede it is either wise or desirable to yield to him full authority in the shaping of party doctrine at this time. To them, control of the machinery and policy of the party is more important than any one victory, and rather than surrender their grip on the power they now hold they would rather accept a temporary defeat at the polls.

Willingness to accept President Coolidge as platform writer as well as candidate has been seriously interfered with by recent friction between White House and Senate. This may be further intensified after the bonus and tax bills have received presidential attention, should he, as is considered by no means unlikely, veto them.

Even the old guard group in the Senate, backbone of the conservatism Coolidge exemplifies, does not relish the complacency with which he has walked away with the party as his own undisputed possession. With a mere "by your leave", he has proceeded about both the presidency and his candidacy for renomination.

The "leaders" have been left with nothing to lead. And it has made them, privately, petulant—even peevish!

A member of the Republican National Committee, speaking privately of the situation, says:

"The trouble with the party, and the government, is that they are run by fear. They are influenced by the fear of what individuals or small minorities may do or say. Instead of chalking out a straightforward policy on fundamentals and then hewing to the line, we put out a platform which tries to placate everybody and pleases no one."

Democrats are observing that the Republicans, long accused of operating under the influence of "Wall Street" will still be in close touch with the "money power" during the Cleveland convention.

The Republican National Committee has taken over a whole floor of the new Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank building as headquarters.

Chairman Adams and his assistants will be on the job there by June 1.

A split in the Ohio G. O. P. ranks might be prevented, it is suggested, by the nomination of Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio as running mate for Coolidge.

THE WINDOW CLEANER

(BY HAL COCHRAN)

Consider the fellow who hangs by a rope and polishes windows all day. It's only his business but he's got the dope, for his work sends real brightness your way.

He climbs to the heights with his bucket and sponge and fastens himself to a sill. Then into his work he will cheerfully plunge while the watchers below get a thrill.

Water will splash if he sometimes gets rash, and spluttering comes like the rain. Often we'll say that he gets in the way when he's working inside on a pane.

Still it's a calling; a worthy one, too, is this shining and rubbing all day. Give every cleaner the credit that's due for his labor is work and not play.

For he is the man who erases the smudge and makes dirty windows like new. He opens the way for a more cheerful day just by letting the sunshine thru.

'ROUND LIMA HOUR BY HOUR

BY OH. OH. JACKENRIM
NEW YORK — (A Page from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter)

—Up betimes, and at my business. Worked hard at my stint on a roll and pot of coffee. It doesn't cost much to live in New York if you keep out of the way of the bell hops. And women. Toting ginger-ale alone rates you 40c the bot.

Didn't lunch. So, with my wife, by underground, to the Greenwich Village theatre. Guests of Mrs. Lucy Hufaker, publicity director for the famous Provincetown play. The play, "Fashion", a revival from 1915. Quaint costumes. Especially male. Long programs with early English type. Exact reproductions of the old Park theatre. "Asides" spoken directly at the audience. Clara Eames as Mrs. Tiffany, and Helen Freeman, her daughter, cleverly portray the itch for social supremacy in Mid-Victorian New York, as it is today in the era of Teapots Dome. The Provincetown players are worth while. The theatre seats only 374.

By gas from Christopher street and Sheridan square, to Lower Broadway thru Old New York. Two-story frames built to the sidewalk as of a century ago. West Broadway. Few know that Gotham has two Broadways. Church street office of the Lima loco. Varrick street. Overlooked in the city's growth. The crash and bang around Woolworth Tower. Like Main and High. City Hall park Gilded dome of the World towers. A lost curio, once pointed out in pride as you crossed on the ferry. There's the busiest post office on the globe. St. Paul's chapel, George Washington and Governor Clinton worshipped here.

Ogden Reid, owner of the New York Tribune. Into a hot-off, for a hamburger and glass of butter milk. So, by Sixth-av L back to the high-rent district. To meet Gertrude Vanderbilt, the actress, not actor of the House of N. Y. Central.

Dined lightly, and then away to the Shubert. To see one of the cleverest revues on the Rialto. Vocues. With Odette Myrtil, Bud Allen, May Bolé, Jimmy Savoy and Irene Delroy. A travesty take off on many Broadway hits. Get "When the Piper Plays" for the Vic or Brunswick.

Kissing my wife, she home. And I to see a private showing of the Dempsey-Firpo fight pictures. In fast and slow action. It looks like Jack fell as much as was knocked thru the ropes. So, very, vurry, vurry late, bravely to bed.

WHAT WILL THE HARVEST BE?

LIMA NEWS HEALTH SERVICE

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

When an emetic is needed in an emergency you want a good emetic. I have tried it on the fellow who does the chores and takes care of the furnace at our house. But thro tho it be, this hypodermic is a wee bit slow when you want snappy action.

Copper sulphate is the thing. It has bounce. You dissolve just a grain or two or three in a table-spoonful or two of water, and pour it down the patient's throat. Take my advice and have everything ready for instantaneous returns.

Copper sulphate is commonly known as blue vitriol, and of course it is somewhat poisonous in large quantities. But I suppose that just half a dozen one grain tablets of copper sulphate be kept for use as an emergency emetic or should the druggist have no such tablets, then keep a solution of two or three grains of copper sulphate in an ounce of water in a little vial all ready to pour down the patient's throat. The tablets are handy to carry, but otherwise have no advantage over the ready to give solution.

Maybe a lot of doctors know little about the use of copper sulphate as an emetic. But anybody who has served long years of apprenticeship as a waiter, as I did when I was waiting for that ipecac to act, ought to appreciate the quick service

THE TREE

A tree before my doorway stands
And welcomes me with open hands.

I hear it thru my window pane
Singing an anthem to the rain.

Or lending to a sterner breeze
The bill of marching melodies.

And whether skies be dark or fair,
I know that tree is standing there.

I sometimes wonder if it knows
How sweetly Time's bright river flows?

And if it knows that it shall stay
Long after I have gone away?

I boast my little time of power,
I dance away my merry hour.

Grow proud and feel myself secure
And think my conquests shall endure;

And yet I know some day the tree
Shall see the gray herse come for me.

Shall greet the sun and feel the rain
And sing outside my window pane.

And watch the children at their play,
Long after I have gone away—

A thousand glories it shall see
In many an age denied to me.

"Boiling point" is simply the temperature at which a liquid turns into gas. Any gasoline is a complex mixture of liquids with different boiling points. The only true test of measuring its quality is the one required by the U. S. Government: to mix, boiling point limits and determine its heat unit emphasis on the complete chain of boiling points which means Red Crown satisfaction.

EARLY PLANTING IS ADVISED

Corn Crop Should be in Ground First Week of May

That corn gives best yields when planted before the middle of May in this part of Ohio was a statement made Tuesday by H. J. Ridge, county farm agent. Ridge bases this assertion on 11-years tests at the Ohio Experiment Station in Wooster.

In these experiments corn is planted at intervals of ten days beginning in the last week in April and continuing thru May and the first week in June.

The average for the early May planting shows the largest number of bushels and the best quality. At the middle of May the yield falls off rapidly. The corn planted the first week of May has averaged 27 bushels per acre more than that planted a month later. This is a gain of three pecks of shelled corn for every day the planting is delayed.

The quality of the late planted corn is inferior to that of the early plantings, as it carries a much higher percentage of moisture and more rubbish.

While these experiments apply directly to the Wooster latitude, which is almost identically the same as that of Lima, for other latitudes the dates would be earlier or later as we go south or north of this latitude. About one day should be allowed for change of season for each 15 miles.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly under the care of Mary Farnival. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart, Robert Durham.

Dolly and Robert sail for America and word comes of the sinking of the ship on which they left England. When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary, she is not to tell him of Dolly's marriage.

David makes Mary for his brother's wife and asks her to come to live with him. David is at Red Grange. An acquaintance of Mary's named Evans, falls in love with her. He writes to tell her that she is leaving for the country.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
If he went round that evening he might be in time to see her. He changed his office clothes for a blue serge suit; he brushed his hair smartly and selected his best tie; then he gave an anxious look into the glass before he set out again into the night.

It seemed a long way to Mary's flat, and when he reached it he hardly liked to ring. He stood outside the shut door for a moment with a wretched sense of nervousness. He wondered if she would be angry; he wondered if she would consider it a liberty on his part to have called at all; he wondered if—

With a sudden impulse he lifted his hand to the bell. He heard it go shrilling through the silence. After a moment a light came through the glass panel of the door; someone drew back the bolt. It was Mary herself. There was an anxious gleam in her eyes, he thought, and, although she smiled when she recognized him, her welcome was not quite spontaneous, he told himself.

He explained his visit stammeringly: "I wanted to see you again. I am sorry you are leaving. I hope it is not really goodbye." She had not asked him, and the light of the narrow hall showed him that everything was stripped and bare. The pictures and furniture had all gone; a couple of large boxes stood on the other against a wall; a big packing-case was in the doorway as if wondering what he thought of it all.

Mary looked round nervously as if wondering what he thought of it all. "The place is all dismantled," she said hesitatingly. "But if you will come in for a moment—" He accepted eagerly. She shut the door, and led the way into the dining room.

Here also everything had gone but a small table and a couple of chairs. A small fire was burning, but the room looked deserted and cheerless. The table was strewn with papers. Many were torn into pieces, and some of the fragments had fallen to the floor as if a draught had caught and whirled them down.

"Please sit down," said Mary. Her voice was nervous. She remained standing near the fire, holding her hands to the blaze, and now young Evans saw that the slim third finger of her left hand was barred with a wedding ring. For a moment he stared at it with blank eyes. He was sure she had not been wearing it when they had met before; his heart began to beat with a sort of slow disappointment.

Almost as if she could feel his gaze, Mary half turned and looked toward him. She moved her hand quickly into the shade of the folds of her black frock. "It is kind of you to come," she said. "I do not like to ask you, but I am glad to be able to thank you for all you did for me the other night."

"I did nothing, I am sorry you are going away. Is it very far?" "Yes—down in the country." The reply was evasive. He realized that she did not mean him to know her destination; he began stammering to put his wish into words.

"I wanted to ask if—whether you would mind if I—if you wouldn't let me write you sometimes? I won't bother you much, but if I might write sometimes—" There was a little silence. Mary was looking away from him now and down into the heart of the fire.

When she spoke her voice was kind but rather cold. "I am afraid I must say no. It isn't that—I don't want you to. I am afraid you must think me horribly unkind and ungrateful, but—oh, I don't think you must." He rose from his chair and moved across to where she was standing; his young face looked very earnest.

"I wouldn't worry you. I'd write very seldom; but—I shall be so sorry if—if we never meet again." The color was fluttering in her cheeks; the hand hidden in the folds of her black frock twitched a little. "You don't understand," she broke out helplessly. "It's not that I don't want to see you again, but—I haven't been so very happy here that I wish to be reminded of it all," she added, with a catch in her voice.

He took her hand—his own daring astonished him. Such a small nervous hand it was. He felt all at once as if he wanted to help her, to be kind to her, to interpose his broad young shoulders between her and the world's suffering. "I know it must seem awful presumption," he said rather unsteadily. "But"—he stopped, and rushed on again—"I've never taken a fancy to anyone before—till I met you, and—"

She lifted her head, and he saw that there were tears in her eyes, though she smiled. "Why, I'm years older than you," she said tremulously. "You're only a boy! It's very kind of you. Please don't think I'm not grateful; but it's quite impossible." "You mean that I'm not the sort of fellow you could ever give a thought to—that—"

There was something so boyish in his appeal, her heart softened toward him. "It's not that, but—" And now she turned her face away to hide its quivering. "I loved a man dearly once, and I can never care for anyone else."

He let her hand go—very gently. "And he is—dead?" he asked. "Yes." There was a little silence. The fire leaped and crackled in the grate, casting weird shadows over the bare room. Then young Evans moved back to the table without speaking and took up his hat.

"I beg your pardon for having worried you," he said; and his voice sounded older and more manly. "Please forgive me." He held out his hand. "What is there to forgive?" she asked him, smiling. "You have been so kind to me."

He walked into the hall, and she followed him. The front door stood wide; the little maid was helping a man drag one of the big boxes out to a waiting van; it looked very heavy and cumbersome. Young Evans went forward. "Let me lend a hand," he said cheerily. The little maid stood aside, red-faced and breathless. Young Evans raised one end of the big trunk in his strong arms.

"Ready?" he asked. Together they carried it out into the darkness, and down to the van. As they shoved it into the back of the cart, the light from the lamp fell on the label attached to the handle. Young Evans looked at it, and his heart leapt. This would tell him her address. He bent closer to it eagerly, and then a little puzzled frown bent his straight brows, for the address on the label read: "Mrs. Nigel Bretherton, The Red Grange, Selmont, —shire. CHAPTER XXI Nigel's Home"

Miss Varney straightened out an imaginary crease in the white bed-spread, and stepped back a pace to look round the room with well-satisfied eyes. "If she doesn't like this"—she appealed to David, who stood in the doorway watching her amusedly—"I am afraid she will be very difficult to please."

"It looks very nice," he admitted, with mannish indifference. "They had no room like this at the flat, at any rate."

Miss Varney sighed. "And he loved his home and the country so much." "Poor Nigel! And he loved his home and the country so much." A little cloud crossed her gentle face. For a moment she lost herself in retrospection.

Now that he was dead and gone she blamed herself that she had not cared more for her younger nephew. David had always been her favorite. She wondered now if perhaps Nigel had guessed as much.

It seemed impossible that she would never see him again, or hear his teasing voice. Tears filled her eyes, and splashed on the white lace of her black bodice.

David moved towards her, and laid a hand on her arm. "Don't cry," he said. "Perhaps it's all for the best—and he went out as he would have wished."

Miss Varney sniffed a sob. She wiped her tears resolutely away, and tried to smile. "I'm an old silly, I know. Forgive me, David. And now we must hurry or the child will be here before we are ready for Nigel."

Is like, and if you think she really and truly cared for Nigel." "I should say I am quite sure she did," Bretherton answered quickly. "I should say she cared for him tremendously; she looked broken-hearted when I first saw her. We shall have to be very kind to her, Aunt Florence. She will be able to do with all the petting and cooing you can give her."

"Poor child, she is more than welcome." Miss Varney stood on tiptoe, and dropped a kiss on David's chin. "I think it's so good of you to have her here. She ought to be very grateful."

She went away hurriedly, leaving David standing in the doorway of the room that had been his brother's.

Miss Varney had certainly done her utmost for the comfort of her guest. There were flowers on the mantel-shelf and dressing table, books on a low shelf, a cushioned chair and a writing table, and a small cherry fire-iron in the grate, for the summer seemed to have gone and the after-noon was chilly.

What would she think of it? he wondered, a little curiously. She had only been to the Red Grange once before, so she had told him.

STATE HOSPITAL MAN COMES OUT FOR PEPGEN

Hunter's Drug Store Is a Busy Place

"The continual demand for Pepgen at my store on The Public Square increases every day," said Mr. Charles M. Hunter today to a representative of The Lima News. Some of the endorsements being received from those who have given it a trial surely prove its great value.

"I can certainly say that Pepgen is a fine medicine," said Mr. Vicar, who is employed at The State Hospital. "It has worked wonders for me."

"About a month ago I suddenly realized that I had let myself get in a general run down condition. It seems that a man won't pay much attention to his health until everything gets wrong. I had gotten where I couldn't eat anything without having cramps and pains in my stomach. An uncomfortable gas would form and build me up. I could not eat any solid foods without having this trouble."

"Then at night it seemed like this trouble would get worse and keep me awake in the mornings I would be all worn out and in no condition to get up and go to work. My back would pain me and I would have a dull tired sort of headache."

"On the fifteenth day of March, I remember it well, I went into Hunter's Store on The Public Square and got three bottles of Pepgen. I believe that was the best investment I ever made. It brought me good health again."

"Before I had been taking Pepgen for three days I noticed an improvement. By the time the third bottle was gone I felt better than I have in ten years. My energy has now entirely returned. I can eat a good meal of solid food and never have any bad after effects. My sleep is regular and restful now. In the morning I get up with a clear head, fresh and rested and ready to go to work."

CAUTION: THE GENUINE PEPGEN, which Mr. Vicar has recommended is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Lima only at The Hunter Drug Store, 49 Public Square and cor. Main and Wayne Sts. and The Argonne Store. There is a Pepgen Store in every nearby town. adv

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

TELEPHONE FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

I want to speak to Mrs. Prescott. This is she, Jack. Oh, I didn't recognize your voice. I have just had a telephone message from Syd, and he says he's coming up very soon, and while he will stay at the Country Club he will expect you to cheer up his convalescence.

Great Scott, Jack, everything comes at once. I've had a telegram from your mother saying she'll visit us tomorrow, and a wireless from my mother asking us to be in New York on Friday to meet them. As they dock on that day. Now what are we going to do?

It is rather crowding the mourners, isn't it? How long do you think your mother will want you to stay in New York?

Three or four days. I know they'll be anxious to get home as Alice is going to be married very soon.

Well, we can easily put off old Syd for that length of time, but mother won't be so easy. I fancy. She always expects that, like royalty, her suggestions must always be treated as commands. Suppose you go, my dear, to see your mother and let me stay home. I really need to do that, anyway, because I was so long with Syd that my business is in rather a mixup.

Oh, I hate to do that, dear. I think it would be a good thing for you, and if I were you I wouldn't even take little Jack with me. He'll be great company for mother, and she'd imagine you were doing it exactly for her sake. I am quite sure you would like to go to New York and show that flapper sister of yours that you are still young and more beautiful than she. You needn't feel called upon to compliment me, dear, at the expense of my sister. But I would like to go to New York, and if you think it would be all right to leave you and little Jack home alone I think I'll do it. Of course Sarah is better able to take care of the baby than I am. She knows more about it, and I am quite sure she loves him quite as much as I do, so far as she is concerned it will be all right. You don't think your mother will think I am perfectly heartless, do you? Probably, but you needn't care for that. If I think it's all right, and you think it's all right, we're the only ones to be consulted. Jack, you're a dear. I'm glad you think so, Leslie, but I'm very far from being one most of the time. I'm afraid I wasn't very kind to you this morning. Oh, I've forgotten all that. I guess the good God put something into the souls of women that he left out of those of men, dear—something that makes them very forgiving and very forgetful of all our little meannesses. I'm coming home very soon now, and I hope dinner will be ready when I get there, for I haven't had any lunch.

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)

Reactionary tendencies prevailed at the opening of today's stock market selling pressure was resumed against the steels, motors, textiles and other industries, initial losses of a point or more being recorded by Dupont, Calumet and Arizona, American Woolen and Yellow Cab. U. S. Steel common opened 5-8 lower. Rails held relatively firm, particularly the North-western issues.

Trading was rather sluggish in the early dealings, bear traders restricting their commitments because of the uncertainty regarding the action of the U. S. Steel Corporation directors on the question of an extra dividend at their meeting late today. U. S. Iron Pipe which was up sharply before the close yesterday dropped back 2-5 while Lima Locomotive, U. S. Rubber first preferred, Gulf States Steel and Wash preferred A, yielded a point or more. Foreign exchange opened steady.

The senate approval of an increase in the corporation tax from 12 to 14 per cent was regarded by some investors as a contributing influence to the selling movement which continued through the morning. Several feeble rallies were staged in the initial issues, but they met with little support. United States Cast Iron Pipe, which was weak at the opening, recovered its loss and climbed 2-4 points above yesterday's final quotation to 93-7-8, a new 1924 high. General Electric, International Business Machine and Reynolds Tobacco B. also showed independent strength. Yellow Cab extended its loss to 2-4 points and Baldwin, Studebaker, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron, Cuba one preferred, South Porto Rican Sugar, Mack Truck and Stewart-Warner were added to the list of stocks to sell 1 to 2 points below yesterday's final figures. Call money opened at 3-4 per cent.

Speculative uncertainty over the U. S. Steel Corporation's directors action on the question of an extra dividend was responsible for the confused price movements in the relatively dull stock market. Heavy sales again propped up in the steels, motors and sugars but independent strength was shown by American Can and a number of specialties. Sales approximated $25,000 shares. The closing was irregular.

POLICE-FIRE ALARMS TO COST CITY ABOUT $3,000

Stating that the total cost of the new police and fire alarm boxes that are to be installed on Main-st at the intersections of that street with Elm, Spring, Market, High, North and Wayne-sts will be $2,934, the city manager requested the commission to order the solicitor to prepare legislation for the securing of $3,000 to pay for the new standard.

Commissioner of the solicitor prepare the legislation. The money will be derived from the sale of bonds to be called fire and police signal bonds, which will be drawn on the safety fund.

JOURNALISM STUDENTS ON 7,000 MILE NEWS JOURNEY

COLUMBIA, Mo. — A trip of more than 7,000 miles in five states is planned for the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri, as its second annual field trip. Arrangements are being made for two parties, divided as follows, which is believed to be an innovation in school of journalism courses. Each student bears his own expenses and is given eight hours' credit for the work.

An intensive study of the points visited will be made, and correspondence maintained with metropolitan newspapers along the route. The trips are planned to acquaint the students with their own state and adjoining states, and to teach them the fundamentals of staff correspondence.

THIS WOMAN'S MARVELLOUS RECOVERY

All Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Truman, Minn.—“I was badly run-down, had pains in my side and back; sometimes I could hardly move around in bed. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it I was so much better I could do my work again. I do my housework, have a garden, raise chickens, and in the best time I worked in the field and helped pick corn. Sometimes I do chores and milk. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after my monthly baby was born, and it has always helped me wonderfully. I believe there is no better medicine made for women, and I hope every woman will give it a fair trial.”—Mrs. AUGUST R. WIDEN, R. No. 2, Box 24, Truman, Minn.

Women suffering from troubles so common to their sex should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

The Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved women of such troubles for the past fifty years. For sale by druggists everywhere.

MAKE LIFE WORTH LIVING

Don't go around feeling tired, lacking in energy and strength, because your kidneys are not working properly. The use of FOLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, will give your kidneys a good flushing, remove injurious waste matter and bring the kidneys back to a normal, active condition. Your FOLEY PILLS are the only thing I ever got to do me any good.”

SAYS IT IS DUTY TO INDORSE IT

Had Nearly Lost All Hope But Plant Juice Gave Wonderful Relief

IMPROVED IN EVERY WAY

“I got such genuine good results from Plant Juice that I consider it a duty to recommend it to other suffering people and let them know about a medicine that brings such wonderful relief,” said Mrs. Charles

MRS. CHARLES DUNN

Dunn, of 90 South Orange Avenue, Newark, N. J., while talking with the Plant Juice Man recently.

“I had indigestion, biliousness and rheumatism and was all run down in general. My food did not digest or give me strength but would lay in my stomach and sour and ferment. I never had any energy or ambition and it was just about all I could do to get the housework done and at times I got so weak I would nearly have to go to bed. I had terrible bilious headaches and dizzy spells from my liver; and my kidneys were disordered and caused pains across my back. The rheumatic pains were terrible and would shoot from my arms down through my limbs. To tell the truth, I was beginning to lose hope of ever being strong and well again.

“One day at the butcher shop I heard the butcher telling how much good Plant Juice had done him and I decided to try Plant Juice. I noticed a change almost at once and now, since I have continued taking Plant Juice, I am greatly improved. It seems that my stomach has been completely purified and is now digesting my food properly and I have a sweet, wholesome taste in my mouth. Everything just tastes fine. And my liver and kidneys are active now and the biliousness, headaches, dizzy spells and pains in my back are gone. In fact, I am improved all over and have such new energy and strength that I get through my housework in a hurry and I am surely glad to publicly endorse Plant Juice.”

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at the Hunter drug store, 49 Public Square and Main and Wayne streets; and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office.
